

A Great Responsibility.

THE responsibility attached to the preparing of a remedy for infants and children is undoubtedly greater than that imposed upon the manufacturer of remedies for adults whose system is sufficiently strong to counteract, for a time at least, any injurious drug. It is well to observe that Castoria is prepared today, as it has been for the past 40 years, under the personal supervision of Mr. Chas. H. Fletcher.

What have makers of imitations and substitutes at stake? What are their responsibilities? To whom are they answerable? They spring up today, scatter their nefarious wares broadcast, and disappear tomorrow.

Could each mother see the painstaking care with which the prescription for Fletcher's Castoria is prepared? could they read the innumerable testimonials from grateful mothers, they would never listen to the subtle pleadings and false arguments of those who would offer an imitation of, or substitute for, the tried and true Fletcher's Castoria.

Children Cry For

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

G. J. English, of Springfield, Mass., says: "It was your Castoria that saved my child."

Mrs. Mary McGinnis, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "We have given our baby your Castoria ever since she was born, and we recommend it to all mothers."

N. E. Calmes, of Marion, Ky., says: "You have the best medicine in the world, as I have given your Castoria to my babies from first to last."

Mrs. Albert Ugasky, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., says: "As I have had your Castoria in use for nearly three years, I am pleased to say it is just as represented. My children are both well and happy—thanks to Castoria."

R. P. Stockton, of New Orleans, La., says: "We began giving your Castoria to our baby when he was eight days old and have kept it up ever since, never having had to give any other medicine."

Mrs. Dolph Hornbuckle, of Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "We commenced giving your Castoria to our baby when she was four weeks old. She is now seven months and weighs 19½ pounds. Everyone remarks: 'What a healthy looking baby.' We give Castoria credit for it."

SHIPPING BOARD

LEADERS ARE OUT

The navy will succeed General Goethals as general manager of the emergency fleet corporation. Bainbridge Colby of New York will become a member of the shipping board in place of Capt. John B. White, whose resignation the president accepted today.

Official announcement of the acceptance of the resignations of General Goethals and Mr. White was made with publication of a letter from President Wilson to Chairman Denman asking for his resignation and giving the president's opinion that the only way to end the row which has delayed the shipbuilding program was for both Goethals and Mr. White to be removed from the situation.

Chairman Denman received the president's request for his resignation at noon and tendered it immediately. "I want to help the president in every possible way," he said, "and never have questioned the wisdom of his decisions."

After his resignation had been accepted Captain White said he had advised all the other members of the board to resign and give the president a free hand for reorganization. No official announcement was made of the intentions of other members, but it was said there were prospects of some other resignations.

Edward Nash Hurley, Chicago, July 24.—Edward Nash Hurley, who was today appointed chairman of the shipping board, was born July 31, 1864, at Galesburg, Ill. His first employment was as a railroad freeman. His rise was from humble beginnings and was spectacular, due to his invention of a pneumatic tool, an instrument which revolutionized steel construction. He failed to impress American financiers with the value of his invention, but went to London, where he interested English capital.

Returning to Chicago, he opened a factory which he later sold. In December, 1915, he was made chairman of the federal trade commission, a position which he held until a few months ago.

Bainbridge Colby. New York, July 24.—Bainbridge Colby, named by President Wilson in place of Capt. John B. White, who resigned from the shipping board several days ago, said here today that he expects to go to Washington tomorrow, but that he had no statement to give out in regard to his appointment. Mr. Colby, who is a prominent lawyer, was actively identified with the candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt for the presidential nomination in 1912, and was one of the founders of the progressive national party in 1914. He was candidate for governor of New York in the progressive state convention in 1912, and the progressive party nominee for United States senator in 1914. In the last presidential campaign he actively supported President Wilson.

Other Members May Serve. Washington, July 24.—Rear Admiral Washington L. Capps, chief constructor of the navy, will succeed General Goethals as manager of the fleet corporation, taking immediate charge of the building program.

The nominations of Mr. Hurley and Mr. Colby went to the senate this afternoon and were referred to the commerce committee. Their prompt confirmation was predicted by both democratic and republican leaders.

It was reported tonight that Theodore Brent, vice chairman of the board, who has been a strong supporter of Mr. Denman's position, had offered to quit the board if the president thought it best, but at the White House it was said no communication had been received from him. John A. Donald and R. B. Stevens, the other board members who have been in harmony with General Goethals, said they had no intention of resigning.

President's Method Surprise. The president's method of ending the controversy came as a great surprise to most officials here, who had believed he would make a final effort to compose the situation by dividing definitely between the shipping board and the manager of its corporation the powers conferred on the executive by congress. Mr. Wilson apparently became convinced, however, that Denman and Goethals never could work in harmony and that both were in a measure to be blamed for the delay to the shipbuilding programme.

Denman Lacked Support. Virtually from the start of the trouble, it became known tonight, Mr. Denman did not have the full support of the board for his wooden ship programme. Mr. Donald and Mr. Stevens consistently supported the general, but Mr. Brent and Captain White stood with the chairman. After Nearly a hundred members of the Sunday school of the Methodist church at Mystic were on a day's outing at the Atlantic beach casino Tuesday, making the trip from the clam town to the shore resort by special car. The members of the Sabbath school of the Pawcatuck Seventh Day Baptist church held a picnic at Atlantic beach on Tuesday, transportation being by auto bus.

Harold Q. Moore of this town is among the student officers at Plattsburg camp who have been recommended for provisional second lieutenant in the regular army. He was one of the men drafted in the first district for the new national army.

Howard McGuinness, who has been employed in the job department of The Sun office and Charles Ogle, a clerk in Hinckley's store on the Bridge, will leave town today (Wednesday) to join the new 20th company at Providence.

The uniforms and hats have arrived for the members of the Westerly constabulary, but the leggings have not. It is doubtful if the men will receive their complete uniforms in time to wear them at the drill this week.

Charles H. Brown of Pawcatuck was arrested Tuesday by Officer Curtin, charged with passing a trolley car on High street, while it was discharging passengers. He was fined $5 and costs amounting to $2.80, by Clerk Clarence E. Roche.

Local Laconics. John L. Horgan of Moss street is visiting relatives in New York city and Brooklyn.

Miss Charlotte E. Maxson of Spruce street is the guest of Miss Catherine Foster at the Foster cottage at Weekapaug.

Emilus B. Harvey of the naval coast defense reserve, stationed at the Brooklyn navy yard, was at his home at Watch Hill yesterday.

Mr. Donald and Mr. Stevens consistently supported the general, but Mr. Brent and Captain White stood with the chairman. After ter he had offered his resignation a tenderly on account of ill health, Captain White returned to Washington in time to cast the deciding vote against the Goethals building programme.

Cause of the Split. General Goethals' announcement of this programme furnished the cause for a definite split between him and Mr. Denman. Much of the Goethals plan was the original programme proposed by the shipping board, but Mr. Denman is said to have resented the fact that the general in making it public declared he would proceed without consulting the board.

Goethals Expected Free Hand. The president's order conferring the powers given by congress authorized the board to operate ships and the corporation to build them. General Goethals, reinforced by a letter from President Wilson which declared he would not be hampered, took the seat to the right. Lieutenant Commander Arthur K. Atkins, U. S. N., Major Benjamin D. Foullos, U. S. A., inserted in the picture of Captain Virginius E. Clark, U. S. A., also a member of the board.

In reply, the general wrote a letter made public today offering to resign and declaring he had been given to understand previously by the president, the shipping board and all others concerned that he was to have absolute authority.

The Goethals Programme. The Goethals programme, which included the expenditure of private shipping under construction and the building of the government-owned shipyards for putting together fabricated steel ships, undoubtedly will be adopted almost as it stands. Chairman Denman already has forced changes which will reduce the cost of ships to be fabricated and the state department is behind him in his position that the United States should requisition British ships building in American yards.

Mr. Denman's resignation leaves Vice Chairman Brent as temporary chairman and there will be no interruption to the board's work.

NATIONAL ARMY UNITS ORGANIZED ON NEW BASIS. Smaller and More Mobile Divisions More Satisfactory.

Washington, July 24.—Secretary Barr confirmed today that in pursuance of suggestions growing out of the conferences of American army officers with Generals Joffre and Bridges, tactical units of the national army will be organized on a basis of about 16,000 men each in place of 24,000.

General Joffre and Bridges explained that the smaller and more mobile division used in European armies had proved highly satisfactory. Co-operation of the American army with those now fighting in Europe would be simplified, they declared, if the divisions were reduced.

Only minor changes in the lesser units will be made, their personnel of rank remaining virtually the same.

REPRISALS ON GERMANS' AIR RAIDS DISAPPROVED

Principles of Morality Killing of Non-Combatants.

London, July 24.—Reprisals upon German non-combatants for the recent air raids upon London are opposed by the Most Reverend Randall Thomas, Davidson, archbishop of Canterbury, in a letter he has written to Sir Thomas Barlow, in response to a request to indicate the principles that ought to be considered. The archbishop wrote:

"My own point is best expressed in the words of a resolution passed, on my motion, by the bishops of the province of Canterbury. We recorded our conviction that the principles of morality forbid a policy of reprisal which has, as a deliberate object, the killing and wounding of non-combatants."

"The key of the situation lies in the intention of the act. Of course in one sense 'reprisal' is of the essence of war. We bombard fortified towns, the object being to harm the enemy's combatant forces.

"But quite different is an attack, the direct object of which is to harm or kill non-combatants, either for reasons of vengeance or in order to promote terror, or in the hope of deterring the enemy from perpetrating outrages. That is the kind of 'reprisal' in which some people wish us to indulge."

"In my belief such action if we were so mistaken as to adopt it would be altogether futile as a deterrent; the Germans would always outdistance us in ruthlessness."

Danbury.—"The best offer that we are willing to make on our part to the haters' union," said one of the prominent manufacturers of Danbury whose shop is closed down, "is that they return to work under an agreement for a local union label."

RUSSIAN FARMERS PREFER WHEAT TO REALM COIN

Peasants Are Getting Back to First Principles of Barter.

Petrograd, July 24.—How is Russia to induce its peasant farmers to part with their precious stocks of wheat? That is the question which is wringing the brow of the Minister of Supply, M. Peshekonoff. Discussing the subject before the All-Russian Congress of Workmen and Soldiers Delegates, he said:

"The greatest difficulty of the food situation just now is that the peasants refuse to give up their wheat. In the old days, wheat was to be had in exchange for money. But now money is cheap, and there is little to be got for it. The peasant is therefore, extremely unwilling to exchange his wheat for more money. The peasant population has lost its faith in money and stocks to the one thing which it has in its hands."

"There are plenty of things which the peasant needs more than he needs his wheat, but unless you can make those things available to him in his markets you won't be able to get his wheat. The forcible seizure of wheat from many million peasants is impossible. Yet something must be done to prevent starvation in our cities. If starvation should come to Petrograd, no power on earth could prevent the collapse of whatever government happens to be in power."

"The task before the ministry of supply, then, is to secure for the peasants supplies of manufactures and wares which they need. It is getting back to first principles of barter. The task will be difficult because of the lack of raw materials and the disorganization of industry. Meanwhile the peasants are hiding their wheat in caches so unsuitable that serious loss is certain to result."

Hope is the froth on a man's imagination.

THE ALLEGED DISLOYAL BOWMAN POSTMISTRESS

Postmaster General Orders Investigation of Senator's Charges.

Washington, July 24.—Postmaster General Burleson today ordered an investigation of Senator McCumber's charges that the postmaster at Bowman, N. D., was guilty of disloyal utterances.

The Burleson in a letter to Senator McCumber said no report on such acts had been received by the postoffice department. "However, in view of the charges," wrote Mr. Burleson, "I have directed an immediate investigation and such action as the facts may warrant will be taken promptly. I have not hesitated in any case of disloyalty on the part of postmasters or other employees of the postal service to take immediate action."

The postmaster-general asked for the names and facts Mr. McCumber had in mind when he said in the senate: "There are no more unpatriotic and treacherous people in the United States than some of their (the president's and postmaster-general's) appointments in my state."

Mr. Burleson said he would cause immediate investigations and take such action in each case as the facts might warrant.

INTERESTS AFFECTED BY CHILD LABOR LAW

Inter-Departmental Committee Will Report to Cabinet.

Washington, July 24.—After an all-day hearing of textile manufacturers and representatives of other interests affected by the new federal child labor law, the inter-departmental committee framing administrative regulations announced that it would report tomorrow to the board of cabinet members which must promulgate the regulations before the law takes effect September 1.

The attitude of the children's bureau was outlined in a talk by Miss Julia Lathrop, its chief, who insisted that age certificates should be certified by parents and not by physicians as suggested by some of the millmen.

A committee of mill owners was selected to co-operate in enforcement of the regulations.
